UREY WOODSON TALKS IT OVER

Kentucky Editor On the Political Situation.

THE LOCAL LAY OF THE LAND

Democratic National Committeeman From the Blue Grass State Happens Into New York and While There Gives Out Some Political Observations Which May Interest Followers of the Game Out This Way.

New York, Aug. 13.—Urey Woodson, the Owingsboro Messenger and the Paducah News Democrat, and is the member for Kentucky of the Democratic national committee, dropped into town, and said it was just a coincidence that he UREY WOODSON, happened upon Roger Sullivan, member of Illinois of that body, who came to New York to meet his wife, who is on her way here from Europe.

"There is not much doing in politics in Kentucky this year," said Mr. Woodson. "There are only the congressional campaign, the governor and legislature and county officers hold over until next year. As for the congressional districts, there are only two in Kentucky that are at all debatable, which the Republicans now hold, the Ninth and Tenth. We are sure of carrying the former, and it is quite possible that we shall get the Tenth."

"Insurgency is insuring in Kentucky just as well as in some of the northern and western states. In the greater part of the south the insurrection movement in the Republican party is strong and powerful, has to hang together in order to get what spoils may be coming from the national distribution, but the insurrection movement is just as strong relatively among the Kentucky Republicans as it is anywhere in the north, and it is doing its best for its own aims and some others."

"Governor William?" Oh, he is getting on about as poorly as could be. He is as vacillating and weak as ever. You see the whole trouble in Kentucky is that while in power the Democrats have been able to get them out and the Republicans have been in two years. They have proved so much worse that the people are in a hurry to turn them out and get back some good men."

"No, we are not talking much about our own politics in Kentucky just now. We are talking about other people's politics."

"It is a peculiar thing that while you have been complaining of a drought here, the section of Kentucky where I live, which is on the Ohio river, has been almost drowned out by rains. The crops are ruined, the cattle and Kentucky is general, tobacco, corn, and wheat suffering, principally the first. But the farmers out there can much better afford to meet such a catastrophe than they could a few years back. Out there during the last few years you have been getting $100 an acre on their tobacco lands, and now you are in clear of everything. Including taxes and the wear and tear on implements. All the farmers in Kentucky have money in the bank, and it is a rare thing to hear of one of them borrowing."

CAUSED A "RUN"

Mula's Death Got Louisville Bank Into Trouble.

Louisville, Ky.—Aug. 11.—A male's death occasioned a run upon the South Louisville Deposit bank, which for a time threatened to wreck the institution. A depositor purchased a mule, giving in payment a check for $75. That night the mule died, and the depositor stopped payment on the check.

The paper presented the check just before the bank closed and payment was refused. He left the bank, spreading the report that the bank had ceased payment.

Other depositors were in line trying to withdraw their savings when the bank opened in the morning. Only a wild dash from up-town is an auto by the president, Dr. Netherland, with currency, saved the situation. By noon, the real cause of the run being learned, it was stopped.

CERTAIN RESULTS

Many a Cloverport Citizen Knows How Sure Shey Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Cloverport. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter. Read the following statement:

J. C. Weatherholt, High St., Cloverport, Ky., says: "Two years ago I did not think it possible that I could ever be well again, in fact, I had settled up my affairs. I cannot fully describe the misery I endured from pains through my back. Whenever I stooped pains became so sharp that it really felt as if someone were thrusting a knife into my kidneys. I was often very dizzy, dark spots floated before my eyes, and it was hard to grasp something to keep from falling. My joints became swollen to their natural size and I lost weight rapidly until I was a mere skeleton. The doctors' medicines and the many guaranteed cures that I tried, did not help me and finally it was my good fortune to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills. I immediately procured a box at Fisher's Drug Store and I was greatly surprised with the results received. Before I had taken the contents of the second box, there was a marked improvement and I continued using them until I was completely cured. I am now well and give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

BEVERLY HAS A PROGRAM FIXED

Aldrich, Cannon and Ballinger to Be Cast Overboard

THAT IS NOW THE LATEST WORD

In Trimming Ship For the November Voyage, the Republicans Have Decided to Lighten the Vessel of What the Leaders Consider Incumbrances, and it is Declared That Said Incumbrances Acquiesce in Their Fate.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 13.—The plans of the new leaders of the Republican party hear first, and the leaders think they will. Speaker Joseph G. Cannon will not again wield the gavel in the house of representatives. It is marked political destiny that out of the 100 members of the House leaders do not fail. Secretary of the Interior Ballinger will retire from President Taft's cabinet shortly after the congressional investigating committee report next month.

Ballinger was marked for destruction and was cast overboard, as it were, in sight. It has become plain that Nelson W. Aldrich will not again be a factor in the senate from Rhode Island. He, too, was set down by the new leaders of the party as one who must go.

The word went forth to the new leaders that if Aldrich must go, he must go now. The word was given to the world that he must be cleared of his responsibilities, as also charged, spread and corncobs. Try it. $50 at Severs Drug Co.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Gov. McCreary Announces.

Gov. McCreary's announcement as candidate for Governor is as follows: To the Democrats of Kentucky: I have received so many letters requesting me to announce that I am a candidate for Governor, and so many Democrats have in person said to me that if I am nominated I will have the unanimous support of the Democrats of Kentucky, and such a large number of newspapers have published editorials suggesting and endorsing me as a proper candidate for Governor, that I have decided to announce that I am a candidate for Governor subject to the action of the Democratic party.

I believe the party which has honored me so often and to which I have been all my life, and whose principles I have ever advocated, and up to which I am entitled to my very best services whenever needed or demanded, have always been in favor of the straight, pure Democracy, law and order, honesty and economy in public administration and educational advancement, and my record and my efforts to serve the people faithfully and efficiently I hope and believe are well known to the people of Kentucky. At the proper time I shall be pleased to make speeches in behalf of Democratic principles and Democratic Government and Democratic victory in every part of the State and every county if desired, and I will be very grateful for the support of my brother Democrats.

Will Not Get Here

The News received word this week from Mrs. S. E. Lowry Parker, of 3723

W. Jefferson St., saying that she intended to be present at the barbecue but could not come on account of her health.

She writes as follows: "I expected to be present Thursday and say a few words; first to the Masonic fraternity, second to Breckenridge my native country. I would request the band to play 'Home Sweet Home', and 'Dixie'.

I have several old friends in your city, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Skillman and others I should like to see. It has been a long time since I have had the pleasure of meeting them.

INTERESTING CROP EXPERIMENTS

Developed at Hardinsburg by Members of the Kentucky Experiment Station and United States Department of Agriculture.

Poor Soil Was Used

General farm crop experiments have been conducted jointly by the Kentucky Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Hardinsburg for the past two years. Results are rather indefinite as yet, but some conclusions have been drawn. However, some interesting things have been brought out and will be presented for the benefit of Breckinridge county farmers.

A poor light clay soil of a wet nature was selected in the suburbs of Hardinsburg. The field is thoroughly infested with insect pests, especially the wire worm which is particularly destructive to tobacco. The pest bores into the stalk below the surface of the ground and continues its way downward into the roots, eating out the center of the stalk. After such an attack the plants have very little vitality to grow and remain very much the same size as when transplanted. Late in the season the plants may recover to some extent and bear fruit to make, at the best, an indifferent yield. Since the pests entirely underground, remedies are very difficult to apply, in fact there is no known way to control it. It is noticeable this year that plats of the old meadow that were planted in some other crop and then followed by tobacco better results are obtained. The cultivation given the preceding crop seems to have the effect of ridding the soil of the pest.

On account of wet weather conditions prevailing last year and insect injuries, the yields secured from the use of fertilizers were not as large as they should have been. The results of one year's work on tobacco are given for what they are worth, subsequent investigations may allow conclusions to be drawn.

The experimental field consisted of two acres, one of which received six shovels of lime at the rate of one ton per acre. The yield of tobacco was not materially influenced by the application of lime. The same results have been observed in our experimental fields in Christian county. A similar experiment is being conducted this year at Lexington in which an adverse effect from lime can be noticed. It seems fairly safe to say that under general conditions in Kentucky little results can be expected from the use of lime on tobacco. Experiments in Virginia tobacco fields show marked advantages from the use of lime. The function of lime is such that seems to be to render the nitrogen available. The inference would not be drawn that lime will not effect the yield of grain and clover crops especially the latter. The field is to be sown in clover and the results will be observed.

The impression is general that potash is the element most needed in tobacco production. This is perhaps due to the fact that a large amount of potash is found in the ash of the tobacco plant. The grower readily infers that this ingredient must be supplied if a large crop of tobacco is to be expected. The fact that the soil may be rich in its stores of potash is not taken into consideration.

The field filled in tobacco last year was followed by wheat without the additional application of fertilizer. The plant food remaining after the tobacco crop was produced being depended on to raise the wheat. The same comparisons will be made with wheat as were made on tobacco with reference to the elements when used alone to determine which is the more important in wheat production.

The maximum amounts of both materials were used, if a greater amount of either had been applied harmful results can be noticed. The wheat was of excellent quality.

The grain was large and of a amber red color. Samples from each plat with their respective yields are on exhibition at Kincheloe's drug store in Hardinsburg.

The difference in the appearance of the wheat while growing in the field was quite marked at times.

The phosphate yield was 18.1 bushels per acre, which is a much lighter plant colored brown than the plants receiving dried blood, potash or no fertilizer.

Many inferred that the yield would not be so good on these no count of such color, but the final results did not bear out the idea.

Where dried blood, on ammonium or nitrogenous fertilizer was used, a very dark, rich green straw was produced, but this feature seemed to have no particular relation to high yield.

Democratic Ticket

For Appellate Judge
WARRREN E. SETTLE
For Congress
HON. BEN JOHNSON

WELCOME TO OUR CITY:

For the ninth time we extend our welcome to those who come to Cloverport tomorrow to attend the Masons annual barbecue. We are expecting a large crowd of home-comers and visitors. Thousands of invitations have been sent to personal friends, and extensive preparations are being made to receive those who have already sent in their acceptance. Skillman's Grove, "the prettiest natural park in Kentucky," is in all readiness for the occasion, and every arrangement for this great event has been completed to make it the most glorious of all our previous barbecues. If you have not yet made your plans to come, do so, and if you have, be certain not to miss the train, for we will be at the station to meet you in the morning with glad hands and a brass band.

The Republican Convention which met at Leitchfield last Saturday, nominated the Hon. J. Allen Dean, of Owensesboro, as their candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from this district. Mr. Dean was an easy winner over Hon. George W. Jolly, his opponent. Allen Dean is a Breckenridge county man, and comes of a Democratic family: his father, Wm. J. Dean, being one of the leading farmers of the county in his lifetime, and a staunch Democrat. Mr. Dean is therefore a new convert to the Republican faith. There are many Democrats in this county to whom Mr. Dean is personally known, but they will not support him over Judge Settle, the present incumbent. Allen is a fine lawyer and a clever, all-round man, but the News doesn't think he can get to the Court of Appeals on this route.

Judge J. J. Hill, of Henry county, a farmer and tobacco raiser, made a series of splendid talks on the tobacco situation and pooling in this county last week. Judge Hill's talks were eminently practical and to the point. "Is a pity that more farmers and tobacco growers were not out to hear him. Those who had the pleasure of hearing him were thoroughly converted to the pooling plan. Judge Hill is a pleasant, earnest speaker, free from abuse of those who differ from him. He is for the farmer, first, last and all the time, and says the only way for the farmer to get living prices for his tobacco is to make the pool so tight and strong that no trust or combination of trusts can break it.

For the past two or three weeks there has been quite a demand in this city for houses that people could rent. There is not a vacant house in this city, and it becomes the business of men who have their money stored in the banks to haul it from cover and invest it in property that will pay. We need several new cottages in this city at once.

Mr. Cornell, an oil and gas expert from Oklahoma, has leased 4,000 acres of land in Daviess county. We are sorry that Daviess county has shown no signs of either oil or gas in her boundary. If the gentleman will come a little higher up, he can find both articles in Breckenridge.

The tobacco crop in this county will not be a good half of last year's crop. We have been over a large portion of the tobacco-growing sections, and we know this from our own observation. It's a poor, spindly, sickly looking crop, and with a good season from now on will not improve.

The Republican party is looking toward Col. Roosevelt for help in the doubtful States where Congressmen are to be elected this fall, but the wage-earners can see no relief ahead from a party that has made the cost of living about double what it was a few years ago.

A. M. Bennett, of Union Star, has the finest crop (3½ acres) of tobacco so far as we have seen in the county. Its big, broad elephant-ear leaves is good to look upon.

It is the belief of the physicians that Mayor Gaynor, of New York, will recover from the bullet wound inflicted on him last week by a would-be assassin.

The Masons are arranging for a great day and a great crowd on Thursday.

STORIES WRITTEN

While The Press Thunders

BY LOUISE

A Valued Heirloom

The other day Mrs. L. B. Perkins showed us a very unique piece of jewelry that was given to her while she and Mr. Perkins and their niece, Miss Virginia Harris, were visiting at "Walnut Hills," his old home in Louisville, Virginia. It is an old fashioned pin filled with locks of light and dark brown hair and is over 100 years old. The jewel pin belonged to Mr. Perkins' great grandmother, Mrs. Mary Grinstead, then to his own mother and after her death, it fell into the hands of his aunt, Mrs. Johnson. Forty years ago the latter lost it. While she was tying her bonnet strings together, she dropped it out of an upstairs window that she was standing near and it fell between the logs of the house. Afterwards the house was weatherboarded and no thought was given to the jewel until this summer when Mr. Johnson, who now lives at the homestead, told Dr. and Mrs. Perkins about it. Someone suggested that a search was made for the hidden treasure and if it were found Mrs. Perkins should be honored with the gift. When the boarding was torn from the house and after a diligent search was made, the pin could be found. Mrs. Perkins was deeply disappointed. The next day Mr. Johnson took another hunt and found the sparkling treasure in a bundle of trash that dropped from the house during the hunt. This is just one of the interesting incidents that happened during the Perkins visit to Old Virginia. They had a visit that is pleasant to hear about and brought home several attractive souvenirs.

It was planned by Mr. Perkins' relatives to hold their reunion summer at "Walnut Hills." Around this old homestead hovers many memories of long ago and the Perkins family of Virginia are proud of the place. Mr. Johnson, who lives there and has charge of the home, keeps it beautiful and always heartily welcomes the "children" back.

Last week when we were taking an automobile trip with our cousin, Mr. C. Lee Cook, of Louisville, we had the opportunity to pay over Col. Henry Watterson's fence and get a glimpse of his home on Watterson's Lane in Jefferson county. The house is built in the shadows of large trees and stands quite a distance from the road.

While we were going through Jefferson town we spied a printshop and there was no place for that party until they let the girl from the News out to jump out of the window and print her copy to the J. F. C. The excellency of the paper was published by Mr. J. C. Atcock and his brother. The home of the Jeffersons is well equipped and everybody there seems to be busy and in love, with their "happy print shop." These two incidents of our trip fascinated me, for any place with a drop of printers ink on it always does.

Wednesday Miss Katherine McGovern, of Victoria, remembered us with a box of luscious peaches. Katherine is one of the best friends the News has and she is a very young girl to be so thoughtful and generous.

ROUND OF PLEASURE

Ahead of Visitors to Kentucky State Fair.

GRAND FREE ATTRACTIONS

Market Successfully Scored for Best Offerings in the Amusement World.

"Pioneer Days in Kentucky" to Be Featured as the Great Pyro-technical Spectacle.

American people must have amusement, and no set of men recognize the fact better than the officers and managers of the Kentucky State Fair. The round of pleasure at the eighth annual State fair will take place in Louisville September 12-17, will be as nearly continuous and complete as is possible to make it.

Secretary J. W. Newman has this season paid particular attention to what may be described as the purely amusement features for the forthcoming state fair. A contract has been closed with the United Fairs Booking Company to supply "The Pass" with the most novel and up-to-date attractions that could possibly be assembled. The usual precautions have been taken to insure the correct moral character of the various attractions and shows. This amusement feature will be on such a large scale this year that it was found necessary to enlarge the area heretofore utilized as "The Pass" and that justly famous avenue of mirth will be arranged in the shape of an immense crescent with every foot of space along the avenue occupied by new amusement concoction.

The list of "free attractions" is a splendid one. These offerings of the fair management proved so popular last year that the managers have made new and more contracts with the best amusement market has to present. A star feature will be the Wakamaka Japanese Troupe, consisting of a dozen or more tumblers and jugglers from the "Land of the Rising Sun." The Japanese Troupe will be joined by the famous Minnow Show, Flank's Traveling Minstrels, Morris and Morris, expert tumblers and Slackety and Brilede, high wire artists. Davenport's Fancy Horses are expected to carry off the highest honors, however, among the free attractions. This entertainment is nothing short of a thunderous crescendo, and will be presented each afternoon and evening.

Hundreds of visitors come to Louisville on the Saturday and Sunday before the fair to secure tickets for a grand treat that has been arranged on Sunday before the opening of the big exhibition two sacred concerts will be given by Natiello's band at the fair grounds. Last year something like 10,000 persons visited the sacred concert, and the management has no misgivings but that the new and more elaborate fair management decided that, as Sir. Natiello and his musicians will be here ahead of time, it would be well to arrange this treat for those who do not to inspect the grounds.

OUR FAIR.

In addition to the regular fair, there will be all lay claim to as being a part of our possessions, the Kentucky State Fair, at Louisville, Sept. 12-17, belongs to us as much as to any people in the state. Every Kentuckian should regard this as in a sense his fair. It represents what is being done all over the state in the way of agriculture, live stock and general advancement. It is a combination of the various county fairs not only of Kentucky, but a great many other states, and there are representations of the various products produced in the various states.

The state fairs are growing each year and the attendance is increasing, as everyone wants to know what is being done in other parts of the state and country.

BUSY DAYS AND NIGHTS.

Time of Special Interest to Every Class
Allocated by State Fair Promoters.

Busy hours and minutes are ahead of visitors to the Kentucky State Fair of 1910, which will begin in Louisville on the morning of September 12. The interest of scores of organizations has been enlisted, and every day and every night will be dedicated to some particular group, with everybody invited to go along with them.

Fred K. Keisker, of Louisville, is general chairman on special days, and

Some of the Horses Seen at the Kentucky State Fair.

A. B. Lipsey, Secretary of the Louisville County Children's Fund, chairman on special nights. As before, Monday, the first day, has been set aside for the school children of Kentucky. The youngsters are expected to turn out by the thousands and a guarantee of one day full of happiness will go along with each school child's ticket. Prof. E. C. May, superintendent of the Louisville Public schools is chairman of School Children's Day.

Tuesday, September 13, will be Farmers' Day, with W. T. Chilton, of Campbellburg as chairman. Formal many of the organizations made up of the state university for the best written judgment on horses, cattle, swine and sheep exhibits. Another set of prizes, aggregating $50 will be offered to the students of the state university. The sum is divided into five premiums. These specials are intended to encourage the youth of Kentucky in the science of live stock judging.

For catalogue, entry blanks or any other information regarding the Kentucky State Fair, address J. W. Newman, secretary, 320 Paul Jones Building, Louisville, Ky.

EVERY FARMER

As well as every business man should have a bank account.

WHY?

Because:

Your money is safer in the bank than anywhere else. Paying your bills by check is the simplest and most convenient method. Your check becomes a voucher for the debt it pays. It gives you a better standing with business men. Money in the bank strengthens your credit. A bank account teaches, helps and encourages you to save. This bank does all the bookkeeping. Your bank book is a record of your business.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering.

Therefore, if kidney trouble continues, serious results are likely to follow.

Your other organs are most affected, but your kidneys do most, because they do most and should be strengthened first.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to be out of duty.

Leonard Wood

Gen. Leonard Wood has just returned from South America to take up his duties as chief of the general staff of the United States army, the highest military position which the service affords.

Nearly 12 years ago, when Leonard Wood was acting as governor of Santiago, I wrote in the Outlook about what he had already achieved, and what he could be trusted to achieve. During the intervening 12 years he has played a remarkable part, and among the men who have rendered signal service to the country by the way in which they have enabled it to grapple with the duties and responsibilities incurred by the Spanish war. What has been accomplished in the Philippines, in Cuba, in the Ryukyu Islands, and in San Domingo during these 12 years represents a sum of achievement of which this nation has a right to be extremely proud. In each locality the problem has been different, in each locality it has been solved with skill, energy, and determination. There have been mistakes and shortcomings, but on the whole it would be difficult to find anywhere a finer record of successful accomplishment. This record is primarily due to the admirable quality of the men put at his disposal in the different places. Meares, Taft, Luke Wright, Smith and Forbes, Meares, Hunt, Wintrop, Post and Colton, Governor Magoon, Colonel Goethals—to these and their colleagues and subordinates the country owes a heavy debt of obligation.

Most of those I have mentioned are civilians. Colonel Goethals, under whom the gigantic work of the Panama canal is being accomplished, with literally astounding rapidity and success, is representative of the army. The share of the army in the honor roll is very large. The importance of work like that of General Bell in the Philippines, of General Barry in Cuba, can hardly be overestimated; but, as a whole, the work of the army officers, the engineers, the doctors, and the greatest in variety of achievement, must be credited to General Wood. And, moreover, he has at times combined with singular success the functions of civil administrator and military commander. His part played by the United States in Cuba has been one of the most honorable ever played by any nation in dealing with a weaker power, one of the most satisfactory in all respects; and to General Wood, more than to any other man is due the credit of making this work and conducting it to a successful conclusion during the earliest and most difficult years. Like almost all of the men mentioned, as well as their colleagues, General Wood of course has taken his share of many dishonest schemers and unscrupulous adventurers, and of a few more or less well-meaning persons who were misled by these schemers and adventurers; but it is astounding to any one acquainted with the facts to realize, not merely what he accomplished, but also the enormous majority of the men whose good will could be won only in honorable fashion. Spaniards and Cubans, Christian Filipinos and Moros, Catholic ecclesiastics and Protestant missionaries, in each case the great majority of those whose opinion was most worth having—grew to regard General Wood as their special champion and abest friend, as the man who more than any others understood and sympathized with their needs and was entirely and able to render them the help they most needed.

His administration was as signal success in the Moro country as in Cuba. In each case alike it brought in its train, an increase in material prosperity, and a rigid adherence to principles which are as abominable as any official. His opportunity for military service has not been great, either in the Philippines or while he was the governor of Cuba. Still, on several occasions he was obliged to do his work with skill, energy, and efficiency; and, once it was done, he showed as much humanity in dealing with the vanquished as he had shown capacity to vanquish them. In one case which is a recent kind of record which requires an altogether disproportionate financial reward; but in no other country is the financial reward so small for the kind of service done by General Wood and by the men whom he commands. There is no other big country in the world where he would not have received a substantial reward such as here no one even thinks of his receiving. Yet, after all, the reward for which he most clearly deserves a large financial reward, and this opportunity has been practically no pecuniary reward for those services which he rendered in positions such as an army officer in the most obscure. There is no other big country in the world where he would not have received a substantial reward such as here no one even thinks of his receiving. Yet, after all, the reward for which he most clearly deserves a large financial reward, and this opportunity has been practically no pecuniary reward for those services which he rendered in positions such as an army officer in the most obscure.

General Wood is an army officer with nothing but an army officer's pay, and we accept it as a matter of course that he should have received practically no pecuniary reward for those services which he rendered in positions such as an army officer in the most obscure. There is no other big country in the world where he would not have received a substantial reward such as here no one even thinks of his receiving. Yet, after all, the reward for which he most clearly deserves a large financial reward, and this opportunity has been practically no pecuniary reward for those services which he rendered in positions such as an army officer in the most obscure.

The police are working hard on the case, and while all the evidence so far is circumstantial, they believe they will be able to make a good case against the accused man.

NEWSY NOTES

From Webster--Mr. Henderson Has Been Chosen to Go to Sunday School Meet at San Francisco.

Rev. May filed his regular appointment here Sunday, and a large crowd was out. His sermon on Prayer was excellent.

A two weeks series of meetings being there are various things about it which render it unsatisfactory.

Rather surprisingly it has thus far escaped the denunciations of the doctors, who have spared no little ease, as a possible occasion for the communication of information, but one can hardly expect to be a president of the United States, nor even a popular politician engaged in a canvass for votes, not sometimes to have wished that the handshaking habit had never been invented. There are so many ways of shaking hands that it is impossible and there are so many different kinds of hands whose touch communicate a sensation not exactly pleasant. Hands that are too hot or too cold, too moist, too dry, or whose inertness communicate an uncommunicative sense of indifference on the part of their possessors.

Every one is familiar with the handshake in which all the shaking has to be done by the party of the first part, while the hand or grasps the hand and is taken or left, to be squeezed or let drop, as one pleases, while the attitude of the owner suggests an absolute lack of interest in the procedure. There is also in many and perhaps all cases of spirit, a desire to extend the hand, and this intention by extending an open palm. Then the other man could do no less than make a similarly reassuring demonstration and the grasp of these two extended hands naturally followed. Subsequently, as the custom of evolution the handshake grew to be the conventional form of greeting and the refusal of a proffered hand was regarded as one of those insults whose dishonor can only be wiped out with blood. Now it is established for firmly and widely established for its abandonment to be conceivable, and

Shaking hands is a relic of barbarism anyhow. It became the custom in the days when every one carried a dagger in his belt and when one friend meeting another thought it necessary to take the personification of his intentions by extending an open palm. Then the other man could do no less than make a similarly reassuring demonstration and the grasp of these two extended hands naturally followed. Subsequently, as the custom of evolution the handshake grew to be the conventional form of greeting and the refusal of a proffered hand was regarded as one of those insults whose dishonor can only be wiped out with blood. Now it is established for firmly and widely established for its abandonment to be conceivable, and

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was troubled with falling out and inflammation, and the doctors said I could not live unless I had an operation. I knew I could not stand the strain and told my doctor to give me a medicine to help me. He said to you sometime ago about my health and you told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now well and have had no trouble since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am to-day a well woman."—Mrs. WILLIAM AHRENS, 988 W. 21st St., Chicago, Ill.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safe, natural, non-harmful drug, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of falling out and inflammation in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonies are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass. EVIDENCE IS ALL CIRCUMSTANTIAL

But Lafayette Police Believe They Have a Good Case.

FERRETING MURDER MYSTERY

Death of Wealthy Trapper, Whose Body Was Found in Charred Ruins of His Home Some Months Ago, Is Now Laid at the Door of William Ashby, Who Has Been Held on Suspension Pending Further Investigation.

LaFayette, Ind.—William Ashby, son of a grocer, is under arrest on a charge of murdering his stepson, a trapper, whose body was found in the ruins of an old log cabin nine miles west of here, which was destroyed by fire early in the morning of Aug. 29. The death of the trapper came about a month ago, but since his death his two cousins have been at work on the case and little by little have accumulated evidence which resulted in Ashby's arrest. Waddell was known to have had a large sum of money on his person the day of the fire, and Ashby and a man named James Casner were in LaFayette that night and rode out together on the Ashby wagon. Waddell left the wagon at a cross-roads and went to his home. According to Ashby's story to the coroner and the grand jury, he continued on home and went to bed.

He and his wife quarreled last week and separated. He later came to the city, became intoxicated and was arrested. The police searched Ashby and found $250 in his clothes. This was a large sum of money on his person the day of the fire, and Ashby was a poor man.

Ashby told the officers that she suspected her husband, and a pistol that was found in him is known to have belonged to Waddell. In the ruins of the cabin was found $8,200 in gold and silver. This had been hidden by Waddell when he left the city.

The only thing not found was his revolver. He is known to have had $1,000 in paper money on his person that night. According to the state's theory this money was stolen from him and in the stealing of it was probably involved his cabin set on fire. Ashby denies all knowledge of the crime.

The police are working hard on the case, and while all the evidence so far is circumstantial, they believe they will be able to make a good case against the accused man.

THOSE BUSY NEW YORKERS

How They Drive and Rush and Then Waste Valuable Hours in Idleness.

How they do drive and rush and seem to be busy, failing over each other, tramping each other down in their mad struggle to get ahead in the pursuit of the round, rolling dollar, just beyond the reach of their grasping claws.

How they run up the stairs of the elevated railroads. How they cannot be persuaded—any of 'em—to wait for the next surface car, but cling persistently to the step and engorge the doorways! How they pack and jam the subway stairs and platforms in a surging mob, shuddering like footloose, crippled children in a field, and leaving men and women alike to the mutual outrages in the intrusion upon each other. How busy, how hurried they are. There is not time enough in the day for them; they are driven by a whip of worse than scorpion sting, and are compelled to scorch, breathless and panting, in their strife for precedence, the New York Evening Sun says.

And yet—several thousand persons, men, women and boys, on their hurried way to their frantic toil, recently stopped to eat, and two or three to stop to gaze at the empty air. In front of the city hall, because it had been advertised that a man would start some time today from that spot and walk to California. It is heaven's mercy that the old feller happened to get up in time, or he would have been the last to be seen, nor any dog was heard barking at a closed window, nor any bird with a broken wing was to be seen anywhere, nor any man started to mend a ohmney or a lofty sagafat. If any or all of these poor creatures had been disturbed half the working population of New York might have been smitten motionless, and stood staring for hours in the effort to quench their magnificent curiosity.
